

Fiqh

فقه

Types of Saliva

SALAAM INSTITUTE
EDUCATION. PURIFICATION. PROPAGATION.

Types of Saliva

Saliva is divided into four categories regarding water after someone has drunk from it:

1. Pure and purifying
2. Impure
3. Disliked (Makruh)
4. Doubtful

Each category affects whether the water can be used for wudhu or drinking

Pure and Purifying Saliva

Water remains pure and permissible for purification and drinking.

Examples include saliva of:

- Humans (even if in janābah or non-Muslim)
- Horses
- Animals whose meat is halal

Impure Saliva

Water becomes impure and cannot be used for purification.

Examples include saliva of:

- Dogs
- Pigs
- Predatory land animals, such as: Lions, Wolves, Hyenas, Apes

Water cannot be used for wudhu or drinking, except in dire necessity

Disliked (Makruh) Saliva

Water is disliked to use if other pure water is available.

Examples include saliva of:

- Housecats, free-roaming chickens, and predatory birds (such as hawks and falcons)
- Animals commonly found around homes (such as mice and snakes).

If no other water is available, it may be used for purification.

Doubtful Saliva

This refers to saliva whose purifying status is uncertain.

Examples:

- Mules
- Donkeys

Perform wudhu with the water, then tayammum, then pray

Fiqh

فقه

Salaah

The Five Prescribed Prayer Times in Islam

SALAAM INSTITUTE
EDUCATION. PURIFICATION. PROPAGATION.

Fajr

Time: From the entrance of true dawn

Time End: Right before sunrise

[https://www.youtube.com/watch?
v=MbMa9i0RT3g](https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MbMa9i0RT3g)

Zuhr

Time Start: Immediately after midday (zawal).

Time End:

- When the shadow of an object is twice its length, or
- According to a second opinion, equal to its length, excluding midday shadow.