

You are praying Zuhr by yourself. During your first rak'ah, before you have made your first sajdah, the Imam begins the congregational prayer. What should you do?

You are praying Isha alone. You have already completed the first sajdah of the first rak'ah when the congregation begins. What should you do?

You are praying Zuhr alone and have already completed three rak'ahs when the congregation starts. What should you do?

What if it was Asr instead?

You enter the masjid and the Imam has already started the Fardh prayer. You have not prayed your Sunnah yet. What should you do?

Salaah of Masbuq

SALAAM INSTITUTE
EDUCATION. PURIFICATION. PROPAGATION.

Salah of a Masbuq

A Masbuq is a person who joins the congregation after the prayer has already begun and misses one or more rak'ahs

The missed rak'ahs are completed after the imam finishes both salaams

Joining the Congregation

If the Imam is standing (Qiyaam)

- Say Takbir
- Join him standing
- Listen quietly

If the Imam is in Ruku

- Say Takbir
- Stand briefly
- Then go into ruku

If you catch the ruku before the Imam rises, you have caught that rak'ah

Important Rules

Always follow the Imam

Never go ahead of him

Do not stand and wait while the imam is still in sajdah

If the Imam is sitting in the 2nd or 4th Rak'ah, you should say takbir and join straight away

If you arrive after the imam has already stood from ruku, that rak'ah has been missed

When the imam finishes both salaams, stand and complete what you missed.

Missed All 3 Rak'ahs (Maghrib)

After the imam's salaam:

Pray a normal three-rak'ah Maghrib prayer.

You arrive at Fajr and the imam is already in second rak'ah ruku. What do you do?

You enter Asr prayer just as the imam is in sujud of the first rak'ah. Do you count that rak'ah?

You come into Isha prayer after the imam has finished one rak'ah and is standing in the second. What is your situation?

You join Maghrib in the final rak'ah while the imam is in rukū'. How many rak'āt will you complete after the imam gives salam?

You arrive in Jumu'ah prayer during the tashahhud (final sitting). Do you count any rak'ah with the imam?

You miss the first two rak'at of Zuh'r and join the imam in the third rak'ah. How do you complete your prayer after salām?

Why does catching ruku count as a rak'ah but sujud does not?

You join a prayer and manage to catch rukū, but you are unsure whether you said “Subhana Rabbiyal-Azim” once before the imam stands. Does it still count?
